WHAT will we do?

Youth camps aim to assist youth to:

- Consider how they will promote moral values that will help children and junior youth develop a strong sense of responsibility
- Facilitate the participation of youth in activities of community development
- Strengthen groups for children and younger youth held in the community
- Stimulate and train participants so that they can carry out service in their communities.

PROGRAM & ACTIVITIES

CAMPS are held a few times a year for youth to gather in fellowship to learn about promoting the wellbeing of young children and youth in their communities. The social problems facing our world - locally and globally - are complex and there are spiritual principles - of equality, justice and true friendship - that can help us resolve them. Camps help us explore the moral implications of our thoughts and actions, and how they affect social change. We plan how to return to our community and take action with respect and desire to learn about lasting change.
